

Professional Indemnity

Which professions do we underwrite?

We are pleased to look at most professional indemnity risks, especially but not exclusively those in the legal, construction and property sectors.

Which professions interest us most?

For guidance we are keen to look at the following types of enquiry:

- Solicitors
- Surveyors and valuers (excluding sole trader valuers)
- Architects
- Accountants
- Estate agents
- Property managers
- Project managers and co-ordinators
- Advertising agencies, graphic designers and public relations consultants
- Building services engineers (heating, air conditioning, lifts)
- Design & construct (traditional small/medium building contractors)
- Management consultants
- Employment agents
- Quantity surveyors
- Miscellaneous.

We do not write insurance intermediaries, independent financial advisors, civil and structural engineers.

Will we write excess layers?

Not in isolation. We will write excess layers only where we write the primary programme.

What about limits of indemnity?

We can provide limits of indemnity up to a maximum of £10 million. Our policies are usually Aggregate Costs Inclusive, except where Any One Claim is compulsory.

What size of firm do we insure?

We are focused on the medium-sized and larger cases. We will however quote for new start-ups and small risks with very modest fees. Please be advised that our minimum premium is £750.

Who should brokers speak to?

We have one of the largest and most knowledgeable teams of professional indemnity specialists in the UK. Full contact details are provided overleaf.
